

Understanding communication differences and anxiety in young children on the autism spectrum

For parents, carers and educators

Wednesday
17 February
7pm to 8.45pm

Online Zoom
event

Gain insight into the language and communication differences of children on the autism spectrum and how this may affect their interactions with others.

This session will also cover:

- Strategies to support the communication needs of children on the autism spectrum.
- Understanding the link between neurology, anxiety and communication.
- Various ways to communicate with your child/children in your care when they are anxious.
- How anxiety can manifest differently in relation to different situations and contexts.
- The link between sensory sensitivities, anxiety and overall functioning.

Leave with strategies to try with your children to support them to manage their anxiety effectively.

Ebony Birch-Hanger is a qualified Neuro-developmental Therapist with over 10 years of experience supporting individuals with a variety of additional needs and medical conditions. As Ebony is also on the autism spectrum, she will bring a genuine perspective of true lived experience to this presentation.

Free

Ebony Birch-Hanger

How to book

You will be sent an email with a link to join the webinar once you make a booking.

Book online at: www.trybooking.com/BNVSD

For more information, please contact Cathie Wills, Children's Services Project Officer, on 9294 5740 or email childrens.services.events@maroondah.vic.gov.au